MARTIAL LAW PROCLAIMED IN GUATEMALA

Probers Seek Single Verdict On Hearings

Hensel Wants Group To Rebuke McCarthy, Free Him Of Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-SD) summoned fellow investigating senators of the McCarthy Army row for a second try today to see if they can all agree on at least part of their verdict.

Also called to the closed-door session was Tennessee lawyer Ray H. Jenkins, special counsel for the Senate Investigations subcommittee during its 36-day televised probe, who may get more work to do if it should turn out that the group's four Republican and three Democratic members see eye to eye in writing up a report.

New Controversy

A possible new point of controversy—or at least a resurgence of an old one in the many-sided dispute—was tossed in the subcommittee's lap yesterday when H. Struve Hensel, assistant secretary of defense, demanded the group unanimously "dismiss the charges against me . . . with a severe rebuke to Sen. McCarthy."

Hensel contended McCarthy had admitted the charges were baseless. He said McCarthy once told him the accusations were originated in keeping with this teaching of an Indian with whom the Wisconsin senator had worked on a farm:

"If one was ever approached by another person in a not completely friendly fashion, one should start kicking at the other person as fast as possible below the belt until the other person was rendered helpless . . ."

Hensel started out as one of the principals accused by McCarthy and his aides of trying to use Pvt. G. David Schine as a "hostage" to sidetrack a subcommittee probe of alleged Reds in the Army. The charges named Secretary of the Army Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams, with Hensel listed as mastermind of the accusations brought by the Army side against McCarthy.

The Army accused McCarthy, subcommittee counsel Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr, subcommittee chief of staff, of having sought by improper means to win favored Army treatment for Schine a former subcommittee aide.

Dismissed As Principals

Midway in the hearings the senators on a straight party-line vote, 4-3, dismissed Hensel and

Pittsburgh Corps Wins Lisbon Contest

LISBON — For the second straight year, the Pittsburgh Rockets took first prize at the Drum and Bugle Corps competition at the football stadium Saturday night.

Three other corps, including the comparatively new unit from East Liverpool, competed for more than $1,100 in prize money.

Satan's angels, Ohio State champs from Bellefontaine, were close runners-up, and the Dunkirk, N.Y., corps outfitted in striking new red and black uniforms, was third.

The second annual show was sponsored by the Lisbon American Legion Post 275. About 2,000 attended.

The Minerva VFW girls team, state champions, an added attraction, performed while the 13-man judging team tallied the score.

Aggregations from Akron and Martins Ferry were scheduled to play but cancelled their appearances.

Robert Kelm and Richard Rose were co-chairmen of the event.

2 Injured In 4 Road Mishaps

3 Drivers Are Cited By State Patrolmen

Two persons were injured in two of the four highway mishaps investigated by State Highway Patrolmen over the weekend. Three drivers were arrested.

Wilson A. Smith, 18, of RD, East Liverpool received possible fractures of the skull and back, and facial lacerations in a two-car collision near East Liverpool at 10:55 a.m. Sunday.

Patrolmen said Smith was driving south on Route 267, north of East Liverpool, when an auto driven by Curtis L. Bockus, 63, of Jacksonville, Fla., westbound on County Road 424, went through the stop sign at the intersection, causing a collision.

Driver Is Hospitalized

Smith was taken to East Liverpool City Hospital. Patrolmen cited Bockus for failing to yield the right of way.

Treated by a Columbiana physician as the result of a single-car accident on Route 7, at 2:50 p.m. Saturday, was Paul Crowl, 28, of Columbiana.

The motorist received a laceration below the left eye.

Patrolmen said Crowl was driving south on Route 7, two miles south of Columbiana, and passing a string of traffic when another car pulled out of the string to pass.

Crowl, patrolman said, pulled off the left side of the road to avoid a rear-end collision and struck a tree.

Collide on Route 14

Cars driven by James Rhymer, 27, of Cleveland and Charles Getz, 38, of RD 4, Salem collided on Route 14, a half-mile north of Salem, at 2:45 p.m. Saturday.

Getz stopped to make a left turn, patrolmen said, and the Rhymer car struck his auto in the rear. Rhymer was cited for reckless driving.

Patrolmen investigated a collision between cars driven by Russell Lampus, 51, of Cleveland and John Humphrey, 30, of East Palestine at the intersection of Routes 14 and 164, north of Columbiana, Sunday at 11:50 a.m.

Lampus, northbound on Route 164, failed to heed the stop sign, patrolmen said, and collided with the Humphrey car which was traveling west on Route 14.

Patrolmen cited Lampus for failing to yield the right of way.

Likens Pastor To Shepherd And Flock

Rev. Harold Monroe, state secretary of Christian Churches, likened the relationship of a minister and his congregation unto a marriage ceremony at the Sunday night ceremony in the First Christian Church during which Rev. Harold W. Deitch was installed as pastor.

The secretary declared that a minister is answerable to the official board of the church but mostly to Jesus Christ whose admonition to Simon Peter was "to feed My sheep." Rev. Monroe drew comparisons between a shepherd and his flock and a minister and his congregation.

Rev. Deitch, who with his wife, Velma, and sons, Woody and Larry, come from Irvine, Ky., succeeds Rev. E. S. Scott who is now at Ghent, O.

Members of the congregation and friends, including ministers from other local churches, attended the service and reception which followed.

The charge to the new pastor was given by F. Richard Wilson, chairman of the church board. Greetings were extended by L. H. Gardner, of Columbus, state president of the Men's Fellowship; and Rev. R. J. Hunter, pastor of the Baptist Church and president of the Salem Ministerial Association.

Rev. L. E. Evans of Wellsville gave the invocation. Mrs. Elwood Hammell Jr. directed the choir which sang, "Open the Gates of the Temple," with Tom Elrod, soloist.

Mrs. Oliver Davis sang, "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked." Organist was Mrs. Ruth Berry.

Mrs. Glenn Davis played the piano and the two joined in the prelude and postlude.

Motorcycle Crashes, Driver, Passenger Die

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—A motorcycle slammed into a guard rail Sunday where Ohio 110 dead-ends into Ohio 64 and burst into flames when the gasoline tank exploded.

The driver and his passenger died. Police were unable to determine who was the driver—Hartley L. Vankirk, 48, or Harold Chaffin, 22, both of North Baltimore.

Vankirk died shortly after the accident. While Chaffin died hours later in Wood County Hospital in Bowling Green. The accident was five miles northwest of Bowling Green.

It's Official Today! Summer Is Here

Summer makes its debut at 6:55 tonight.

It's official when the sun reaches its farthest apparent distance north of the equator. This evening at that time — when you're out in the yard mowing the lawn — the sun will be directly overhead for an observer at 163 degrees, 20.9 minutes West longitude and 23 degrees, 26.8 minutes North latitude. The map shows that will be a point in the Pacific Ocean, northwest of Honolulu.

For most persons they didn't need a reminder that it is summer. The temperatures were expected to soar into the high 80's today. Scattered showers and warmer tonight and tomorrow is the weatherman's forecast.

Warm weather is helping district farmers get in their hay crops, although garden crops could stand more rain, agriculture officials point out.

Guatemala Cease-Fire Is Voted By UN Council

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Security Council called unanimously last night for a cease-fire in Guatemala and for all U.N. members to withhold aid from the fighting forces there.

The action came after the Soviet Union cast its 60th veto in council history on behalf of Guatemala's leftist government. The veto defeated a motion to refer the Guatemalan complaint of aggression to the Western Hemisphere's regional organization, the Organization of American States (OAS).

U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., council president for June, said the Soviet veto showed obviously the Russians have "designs" on the Americas. He warned angrily:

"I say to the Soviet delegate: Stay out of the Western Hemisphere. Don't try to start your plans and conspiracies here."

Despite the Russian vote, Guatemala has already asked the five-member inter-American Peace Committee of the OAS to help stop the invasion against President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman's government. The committee scheduled a meeting in Washington late today.

The cease-fire call was voted after Guatemalan Delegate Eduardo Castillo-Arriola charged neighboring Honduras and Nicaragua, backed by the United States and the United Fruit Co., had connived in an aggression against Guatemala's territory by mercenary expeditionary forces.

Lodge Defends U.S.

Lodge hotly defended his government and denied the charges. He said information available to the United States "strongly suggests that the situation does not

Nation Mobilizes To Face Advance Of Anti-Reds

Rebels Say Forces Push Ahead, Civilian Populations Rise up

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman of Guatemala proclaimed martial law throughout his invaded country today as his Communist-backed government mobilized for a showdown battle with anti-Red rebels.

Insurgent leaders claimed their forces were pushing ahead in a three-pronged drive aimed at key rail and road communications in the southern part of the country.

The martial law decree was announced late last night after a government appeal for all private cars to be turned in for use in moving troops. Reports from Guatemala said the decisive phase of the battle for that neighboring Central American nation may come within 48 hours.

No Field Action Yet

Associated Press Correspondent Jack Rutledge, in Guatemala City, quoted Guatemalan army officers as saying no field action had yet been fought. They added, however, that a battle could not be delayed much longer.

The U.S. Embassy in Guatemala City announced this morning plans to evacuate wives and children of U.S. citizens. With a wave of anti-U.S. feeling sweeping the city, the embassy reportedly feared violence might break out against North Americans. There are about 1,200 U.S. citizens in Guatemala.

Part of the rebel force was reported striking toward the Pan-American Highway, near the Salvadorean border. This is a two-headed drive from Nueva Ocotepaque, Honduras, toward the town of Jutiapa.

Another invading column reportedly was moving in from Macuelizo, Honduras, about 20 miles west of Puerto Barrios, Guatemala's chief Caribbean port.

Third Near Zacoapa

The third was reported toward Zacoapa, midway on the vital rail line between Puerto Barrios and Guatemala City.

Rebel sources said their planes also are dropping arms in western Guatemala, where uprisings against the government have been reported.

President Arbenz reportedly has taken personal charge of defense strategy. It was speculated the taking-over of private automobiles could mean he plans to emulate the famous "taxicab army" which France rushed up to defend the Marne River during World War I.

Boys Wreck Stolen Car, Are Arrested

LISBON — Two Summit County teenage boys, who admitted stealing an auto in Akron, and then drove it into Longs Run Bridge in St. Clair Township, will be returned to juvenile authorities in their home county.

The youths, John Hadick, 17, and Robert Laughlin, 16, wrecked the sedan on Route 267 north of Glenmoor Sunday morning, then fled on foot. They were apprehended by deputy sheriff Richard Judas after a farmer, Clarence Burbick, heard them prowling about his farm and called the sheriff's office.

Laughlin was treated at East Liverpool City Hospital for wrist and chest injuries.

The boys confessed that they stole the auto in Akron Sunday about 12:30 a.m.

Cyclist Hurt In Collision On State St.

A 17-year-old Salem bicycle rider was injured in one of four traffic accidents on city streets over the weekend.

The cyclist, Frank Heston, of 426 Ohio Ave, received contusions of the body when his bike collided with a car driven by George Kubas, 19, of 1717 Cleveland St. at 9:26 p.m. Saturday on E. State St. at Fair Ave.

The boy refused medical attention, police said, and was taken to his home. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin J. Heston, told officers they would take him to a doctor.

The auto was eastbound on the street, turning right onto Fair Ave. when the mishap occurred. Police said the bicycle was going west on the wrong side of State St. without lights.

Autos driven by Chester J. Bissett, 47, of Sebring and William M. Stewart, 71, of 612 Ohio Ave collided on S. Broadway at 2:20 P.M. Sunday, causing minor damage to the two vehicles.

Truman Okay After Emergency Operation

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman, reported in satisfactory condition today after an emergency operation, probably will be able to leave the hospital in 10 days.

His appendix and gall bladder were removed early yesterday.

The 70-year-old ex-President was able to sit up in a chair for a brief period yesterday. He told his doctor he considered himself just another patient at Research Hospital and didn't want any fuss made in his behalf.

Dr. Wallace Graham his physician who also was his personal doctor during White House days, said Truman should be able to leave the hospital in 10 days if all goes well.

"Mr. Truman is a perfect patient," he said. "He expects you to know certain things and he expects you to be sure of them. He doesn't fuss or worry. He decides to get things fixed."

The physician said he was "very ill" when he entered the hospital but had stood the operation extremely well.

He first became ill Friday night while attending the play "Call Me Madam" at the outdoor Starlight Theater.

3 of 4 Escaped Convicts Nabbed

Hunger Forces Men Out Of Hiding Places

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Prison routine starts again today for three men who escaped Wednesday from the Roseville branch of Ohio Penitentiary after frightening a guard with a toy pistol and disarming him. A fourth escapee still is at large.

Warden Ralph W. Alvis said the three, who arrived at the penitentiary yesterday, will be segregated from other inmates and placed in single cells with the loss of virtually all privileges.

The Ohio highway patrol captured two of the men Saturday night and Canton police captured the third early Sunday. The men said they split into pairs after scaling the eight-foot prison fence.

Taken near Cambridge were Charles Hanovich, 46, of Wheeling, W. Va., a convicted murderer, and Richard Strahm, 24, of Lima, one of the leaders of the Ohio Penitentiary riot Halloween night 1952.

The patrol said Hanovich told them they divided the weapons taken from the guard. Hanovich and Strahm took the rifle while the other two men were given the shotgun.

When arrested at Canton, Homer Thacker, 36, of Dayton told officers he and Ernest Burge, 24, of Marietta dropped the shotgun the first night of freedom when they were fired at by law officers. Burge was not captured.

They hitchhiked and walked to Canton, Thacker said.

Hanovich and Strahm were captured in a stolen car on a county road near Cambridge by state patrolmen Jack Applebee, 23, of Massillon and J. Bert Patterson, 29, of Canton. The officers said both men surrendered meekly although they had a rifle in the car.

The officers said a toy pistol, one apparently used to force the Roseville guard into giving up his weapons, also was found in the car. The men refused to say where they got the toy.

Hanovich said hunger finally forced him and Strahm from their hiding place in the woods early Saturday. The patrol said Hanovich admitted he and Strahm broke into the Philo home of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Pletcher on the outskirts of the village, tied up the elderly couple, and took their car, some food and a razor to clean off their three-day beards.

Thacker, too, blamed hunger for his capture. He said he and Burge had come into Canton looking for a restaurant. He said they hadn't eaten in 24 hours.

Alvis said the three will be charged with escape. It carries a 1-5 year term. Charges of armed robbery, car theft and possibly kidnapping may be filed against Hanovich and Strahm.

Fairfield Township Farmer To Start Nut Orchard Project

LISBON — Farm economists who keep yearly production records of milk, beef, wool, fruit and vegetables in Ohio may add another product to their list within the next few years — Ohio-grown nuts.

This new farming enterprise for this area has already become commercially important in sections of New York State, where growers compete in a market once monopolized by California.

Hardy and disease-resistant nut trees, recently bred or discovered, have made nut-growing in the cold-belt states economically feasible.

Although a few hardy English walnut and Chinese chestnut trees are grown in Columbiana County for ornamental purposes, or as a hobby, an imaginative young Fairfield Township farmer is planning what will probably be the county's first large nut ranch.

Bill Houlette, 27, of RD 2, Columbiana who with his father, Cary, works one of the most productive farms in the county expects to plant 40 to 45 acres of walnuts and chestnut trees within the next two years.

He has bought 88 acres of idle township farmland, which is being contour-stripped by Soil Conservation Service workers here to prevent rapid run-off. He plans to set out about 3,000 nut trees on the strips.

"Right now, I am counting on this project only as a 'hobby,'" Houlette said. However, he plans to realize a handsome profit from the trees when they are from 15 to 20 years old, he added.

The Carpathian walnut, imported from the Carpathian Mountains of Poland when scientists learned of its ability to survive frosts, resembles the California English walnut, but is slightly smaller. The rugged European species has been grown as far north as Canada, Houlette claims.

The Chinese chestnut was bred by United States Department of Agriculture scientists specifically to resist the fungus blight which killed native chestnut forests in this section of the country.

Houlette said the trees should start bearing when they are from eight to ten years old. "In 20 years I expect to have my investment back. This includes money spent for the land, trees and labor," he said.

He said a 50-year-old walnut tree should produce 300 pounds of nuts a year.

He believes there is a better future in nut orcharding than in Christmas tree farming, because of the tighter and tighter competition among local pine growers.

Houlette has a plan figured out to combat squirrels, which might be tempted to use the seed nuts to fill their larders.

Over each nut, he said he'll place a tin can, with one end cut out and the other split to allow the seedling tree to emerge. The tin will rust but not before the seedling is on its way to becoming a healthy tree.

Both Baltimore and Milwaukee regained major league franchises after 52 year intervals.

The company recently added awnings to the output of its plant here, along with lines of work brought from its Conneaut plant to make room there for other lines.

Organization of a committee for the Columbiana sesquicentennial celebration next year is scheduled at a meeting in city hall at 8 p.m. Wednesday. Members of the committee are representatives of all organizations in Columbiana and Fairfield Township.

CLASSES in life saving will receive instruction at Firestone Park pool this summer toward junior and senior Red Cross emblems when a sufficient number have signed up at the bath house.

Michael J. Stanton, manager of the F. C. Russell Co.'s Columbiana plant, program chairman for the club meeting this evening, will take members of the club on a tour of the plant after dinner. The night shift will be seen in operation.

Matthews of Salem will introduce a Russian girl, Alexandra Tetrachkoff, and a Salem girl, "Dixie" Wilde, who will present a program. The board of directors will meet at the home of William B. Arn after the dinner meeting.

Mrs. Harriet Stahl, 117 N. Main St., Columbiana, has been named director of nursing service at Salem City Hospital, where she has served as assistant director since 1948. She is now visiting in her native England and is expected home late in August.

NINETEEN of the 21 members of Troop 5, Girl Scouts, of Columbiana were to leave today for six days in camp at Woodland Lake, Homeworth. They will be accompanied by their leader, Mrs. Lois Weyman, and her assistant, Mrs. Joan Jones. Mrs. Helen Cline and Mrs. Mary Lou Harrold, troop committee members, will each spend three days at the camp.

Members of the troop will do their own cooking toward their cooking badges. Troop 1 and Brownie Troop 3 will also have camping periods at Woodland Lake this summer.

Anniversary Celebration Held By Mile Branch Grangers

Eighty years of organization in work of interest to farmers were climaxed Wednesday evening in the anniversary celebration held by Mile Branch Grange.

Members and friends filled the hall for the occasion.

Mrs. Robert Kibler, grange lecturer, planned the program with Norman Barnett, master, as the master of ceremonies.

Members of the Star Dusters Grange orchestra opened and closed the program with groups of selections. Composed of grange members, the orchestra includes Mrs. Kenneth Hahlen, pianist; Miss Betty Denny, accordion; Miss Joyce Denny, saxophone; Marion Kitzmiller, clarinet; James Ingram, base viol; and James Hahlen, drums.

Rev. James Ingram offered the invocation and Norman Barnett gave "Through the Years," a history of the grange.

Mrs. Mark Borton made the presentation of a picture of Rev. James Weaver to the grange. Rev. Mr. Weaver, who served as Columbiana County deputy master at that time, 1874, organized Mile Branch Grange. Mrs. Borton spoke of his life as a minister and a granger. She said he organized Fairmount Home and several homes for soldiers.

At present, Mile Branch Grange has a membership of 623 with Thomas Buckman the only 50-year member.

Members of the Schoeni family chorus entertained with several selections. This chorus has the distinction of having 53 family members, 26 of whom are grangers including four generations. Fred Schoeni, head of the family, received a gift from the grange for having the most family members present. Orvie Sanor received a gift for the member present with the longest continuing membership, 48 years.

Twenty-five year certificates were awarded by Harry Cook of Trumbull Co., Ohio State Grange.

Russia Stages Giant Air Show In Moscow

MOSCOW (P)—The Soviet Air Force staged a giant air show yesterday but the 667 planes that took part included no new types. Even the four-jet intercontinental bomber flown over Red Square on May Day was absent from the display.

A quarter of a million Russians, headed by Premier Georgi Malenkov and Communist party secretary Nikita Krushchev watched the show at Moscow's Tushino Field.

The aircraft ranged from four tiny radio-controlled gliders to 162 two-jet bombers.

PLANE CRASH HURTS 2

Helping Salem's Youths

The Rotary Club's backing of a Youth Canteen is a positive step to help Salem's teenagers.

The Rotary Club voted to employ an adult supervisor for the youth recreation center in the Memorial Building because its members felt that the high school age boys and girls should be able to meet and enjoy each others company in a wholesome atmosphere. The Memorial Building Youth Canteen, to be operated probably three evenings a week, seems to lend itself to an overall pattern of affording better recreational advantages for Salem's young people. The Kiwanis Club-inspired Centennial Park Swimming Pool, now a reality, offers further proof of Salem's expanding recreational program.

If the Zelle well field near Hope Cemetery can be developed, as it should be, then Salem will have a park system that could be the envy of any city of comparable size.

The new Memorial Building Youth Center offers a challenge to the youths for, as long as they are sincere in their efforts, the Rotary Club and others who understand their problems will be back of them 100 per cent.

A Lesson In Self-Government

The curtain has been rung down on the Army-McCarthy hearings—television's biggest show since Sen. Kefauver's committee investigated organized crime in New York City three years ago.

In due course, the "judges"—the members of the investigating subcommittee, four Republican and three Democratic senators—will make a report. This may take a good bit of time. The report may prove to be an anti-climax after the sensation created by the televised hearings.

The heat generated by the controversies set aflame during the hearings will subside. The issues will be all but forgotten.

There is little likelihood that a clear-cut "verdict" will be reached on the two fundamental questions:

1. Did Sen. McCarthy and his staff assistants try to get special favors for Pvt. G. David Schine?
2. Did the Army try to use Schine to make McCarthy and his aides lay off an investigation of subversives at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.?

Editorialists and commentators are geared to nail the air for days to come, to complain that the hearings were a waste of time and money, to fret about the "damage" done to the Republican party, the Democratic party, President Eisenhower, the Army, the august U. S. Senate and American prestige in world affairs.

Most of what they say will be hollow verbiage. Their words will leave millions of newspaper readers, radio listeners and television viewers stone-cold.

The people of the United States in this instance know as much about what went on during the hearings as the commentators know. Thanks to television, the people saw and heard all that was done and said. They expressed their own opinions from day to day and from hour to hour.

All in all, it was a great show. The antics of the lawyers were entertaining. The drama of the debate and the verbal fencing of the witnesses were exciting.

We don't guarantee this, but it might just be that this show was less a waste of time and money, less damaging all around, than the commentators think it was.

We are inclined to go along with Sen. Mundt, the acting chairman of the subcommittee. He thinks a great many Americans who hadn't thought about government since they were school kids now have a better idea of its complexities and the vital importance of settling clashes with words instead of pistols.

All is not sweetness and light in Washington. Plotting and confusion do exist.

But on the other hand, secrets finally come out and our American system of balanced power keeps working. We have no dictatorship. None could get a foothold in a country where men can challenge and be challenged.

Finally and most important is an impression that out of this cleansing of the air in Washington there is going to come a renewed and unified effort to guard America against the kind of Communist infiltration that has been uncovered in our government and must be brought to light wherever it is found.

Just an encouraging tip: you'll be able to buy from your grocer all the things you hoped would grow in your own garden.

It's getting to be quite a problem, for the man who wants to marry, to find a girl who will help him with the dishes.

It's funny how much harder a man works when he's telling his boss than when he's telling a friend.

Latin America Unrest

By NORMAN LINDHURST

Intelligence Finds Russians Behind Uprisings

FRANKFORT — American intelligence agents have uncovered evidence that Russia has planned the outbreak of disorders in Latin America aimed at diverting American attention from Asia and heading off any U. S. intervention in Indochina.

U. S. Intelligence authorities said that documents obtained by American agents in Prague, international Communism's "clearing house" for agitation in Latin America, reveal the plans for armed revolts, general strikes, assassination attempts and demonstrations throughout Latin America.

In general, Russia was reported preparing to stir so much chaos in Latin America that the U. S. would be firmly pinned down dealing with trouble there and would not feel able to intervene in Asia on any decisive scale.

Russia, according to the information originating in Prague, is said to feel that a showdown is at hand on Indochina and that continued fighting there might provoke a general war.

On the other hand, the Russians were also said to believe that if the U. S. was kept busy fighting a chain of "brush fires" in Latin America, American interest in the fate of Asia would wane in the face of a more immediate threat to its security in the western hemisphere.

The U. S. Intelligence authorities said that sizable numbers of Communist agents had been determined to be leaving Prague for Latin America.

AMERICAN AGENTS surmised that Russia preferred not to gamble on attempts to put any outright Communist governments into power, but rather to back "nationalist" movements which appear to have nothing to do with Communism.

In Prague Communist agents are told, according to the U. S. information, that the most effective weapons in Latin America are labor unrest and the expropriation of American-owned property.

Considerable time is known to be devoted in Prague to drilling agents in how to exploit explosive issues. Among them, in the Communist handbook, are the American "grab" of the Panama Canal Zone from Panama; Britain's "illegal" possession of British Honduras and the Falkland Islands; United Fruit Company's "imperialism" in Central America, and the Dominican Republic's "plot" to seize Haiti.

Marxist ideology plays little or no role in the current Soviet program for South America. Communist agents are instructed to support any movement even ones that are anti-Communist, so long as they are hostile to the U. S. and "Yankee imperialism."

U. S. Intelligence agents said that Communist agents were leaving Prague with authority to offer Soviet military assistance to any subversive group in Latin America that seemed strong enough to make effective use of such aid.

The Soviets, of course, do not figure directly in such offers. Most purchases are negotiated by independent brokers representing an Iron Curtain "trading organization" or even a third party to whom arms shipments are consigned.

AMERICAN AUTHORITIES said that the problem the U. S. faces in Latin America is best summarized in an interview which Col. Jacobo Arbenz Guzman, the President of Guatemala, recently gave to the Paris newspaper Le Monde.

Arbenz, denying that Guatemala constituted a "Communist beachhead" in Latin America, said: "Accusations of this type are evidence of the anger stirred by the politics of my government, policies which necessarily affect powerful foreign interests."

"Guatemala is not and cannot be a satellite of the Soviet Union or the United States or of any other power."

"Certain circles in the United States are interested in the adoption of measures of intervention against Guatemala, either because of its progressive and patriotic policies of the Guatemalan government affect their interests, or because in menacing Guatemala they wish to intimidate the peoples and governments of Latin America."

Arbenz charged that the U. S. feared Latin Americans might "Be tempted to take the road to independence and menace the interests of America trusts." He predicted that any U. S.-backed measures against Guatemala would meet with wide opposition among other Latin American governments, which would "consider their own security and independence."

American Intelligence said that this line is being developed in the training courses for agents at "The Institute for the Study of Latin American Relations" in Prague, the central training center for international Communism's Latin American agents.

ENROLLMENT in the Prague center, according to the American officials, has spurred to over 1,200 within the last six months. Most of the trainees are native Latin Americans.

These agents, upon returning to Latin America, will work through mass organizations—unions, sports associations and intellectual groups. Most are veteran Communists who wield considerable local influence in Latin America. Many are intellectuals who are on intimate terms with the left-wing intelligentsia, always a potent force in Latin American life.

A second and smaller group of Latin agents now being trained consists of outright spies and saboteurs. Their mission is to put "muscle" into disorders and demonstrations, once they have been stirred up.

In Latin America the Communist agent net, estimated to number as high as 5,000 agents of all types, is controlled through Soviet and Iron Curtain diplomatic missions in each country.

A Nation of Veterans

By JOHN M. ROSSON

The ex-GI is a major economic and political force on the American scene.

This could not be said of the veteran after World War I. Then he was in a decided minority.

With the addition in April of another 80,000 discharges to the nation's list of former service personnel, the Veterans' Administration counted an all-time high of approximately three out of every five men over 20 years of age.

Of the total now on the roster, only 3,400,000 are veterans of World War I or earlier conflicts in which this country took a part.

World War II and the Korean struggle, in comparison, so far have produced 17,300,000 ex-servicemen — two out of every three men between 22 and 37.

The mounting list of former GI's has become a matter of primary concern to American politicians and economists, many of them veterans themselves.

Veterans are voters. They also represent a large portion of the country's purchasing power. But elections and profits aside, the veterans' greatest value lies in the fact that most of those who served during the past 12 years are sufficiently trained and still physically able to fight again if need be.

The veterans' rise to prominence began in 1930. Until that time the only benefits available to the ex-GI were limited pension and insurance funds and medical aid.

The program was administered by two federal agencies, the Veterans' Pension Bureau and the Bureau of War Risk Insurance. About 30,000 employees handled the job.

A need for centralization and more active support for ex-servicemen led a few months later to consolidation of the veterans' groups into what today is considered a major government organization, the Veterans Administration, employing 182,000.

Not only has it become the VA's task to administer the 20,000,000 discharges, but to members of their families as well. A recent look into its crystal ball produced the following prediction by the VA: By 1955, World War II veterans and their families will number about 62,000,000.

Since 1944 more than 300 public laws relating to the veterans administration have been passed by Congress. More than half of them offered direct financial, medical, educational and insurance benefits to the former GI and his family.

With each new law the nation's economy prospered. Sales skyrocketed. Money was kept in circulation.

Perhaps the greatest overall effect of the heavy ex-GI population has been registered in the construction field.

Personal Reputation

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Some time ago my good friend, Carl W. Ackerman, dean of the faculty of journalism of Columbia University, said:

Sokolsky

"To day the vast majority of teachers in all fields of instruction have learned that promotion and security depend upon conformity to the prevailing community or national concept of devotion 'to the public welfare'."

Why should teachers feel that they are forced to conform? And what are they being forced to conform to? Is any man required to conform to a particular religious group to teach in our public schools? Is anyone required to belong to a political party? Must he accept a particular philosophy of life?

As one analyzes the problem, the only position that involves a teacher or anyone else in difficulties at the present time is membership in the Communist party or support for the Communist party or in favor of espionage or defense of those who engage in espionage.

student must look for a job. He knows all employers now "investigate" before hiring. He knows that an 'A' record is no longer a sufficient recommendation, neither is a degree. Employers ask searching questions, not about ability, resourcefulness, reliability, industry and integrity, as in the past, but also about the political and social attitudes of the applicant."

I HAVE LIVED nearly as long as Dean Ackerman and I cannot recall when his description was not true. Men used to be hired on what was called "character."

Perhaps that is a neolithic term, but by it was meant "a good name," "a good reputation." Receiving the mark of "A" does not even imply that a person has a good character. It may mean that he has a photographic memory.

Naturally, one investigates his staff. I recall when it used to be customary to ask for a letter from a priest or pastor or rabbi. I know employers, particularly of secretarial help, who want something like that. My office is at home and I would not employ anyone, even with a Phi Beta Kappa key, whom I would not care to introduce to my wife and children.

An "A" would not prove that I could do that. An employer who has a defense contract does not want to employ anyone who would get him or his firm into trouble. Quite apart from patriotism, it is a nuisance to have to go through investigations and explanations. It is more practical to have a check made in advance.

Dean Ackerman objects to various departments of government checking on persons. I have been investigated by experts, probably since the day I was born. Every once in a while, I hear about something like that. So far as I am concerned, it gives me no bother.

NEARLY EVERY YEAR, the Internal Revenue Bureau goes over my private affairs with a fine comb to discover what I receive and spend and pay to the government. That is as much a check on me currently as some agency of government asking me whether I knew Emma Goldman or Leon Trotsky or Mao Tse-tung.

As a matter of fact, I sometimes envy those geniuses who manage to get paid in cash and do not have to write down every item of earning and expenditure. It is even becoming difficult to sin with all the scrutiny that is going on. But there it is and we take it in our stride and if a fellow's nose is fairly clean, he survives even a field check.

Nobody who has no record to hide need worry about his "character." As a matter of fact, a little investigating even helps to confound his enemies.

Peace On Coosa River

By RAYMOND MOLEY

A splendid example of the way, repeatedly suggested by the President, for private and public cooperation in building power projects is what has happened in the case of the Coosa River in Alabama.

Nine years ago, Congress authorized a large federal development project on the Coosa River. This would have involved the usual multiple purposes, including power, flood control, and navigation. No funds were appropriated, but the authorization stood, which prevented any development by the private company in the region, the Alabama Power Company.

The encouragement given to private enterprise in the power field by this administration led the Alabama Power Company to propose to make the development itself. In fact, its purpose is to build five dams instead of the one originally planned by the federal government.

In a spirit of reasonableness, all of the people directly interested got together on a plan for the private development. The legislation necessary was a simple bill de-authorizing the federal project, or at least suspending any federal project until the private project is undertaken.

The bill was supported by the congressmen and senators from Alabama, the governor, civic and commercial associations, the Interior Department, and Bureau of the Budget.

Last week in a spirit of amity the bill passed the Senate without a record vote. Sen. Magnuson asked a few questions and then subsided. Muted were the voices of the other public-power advocates, and at the end even Sen. Morse made no protest.

The next step will be for the power company to go before the Federal Power Commission and get the necessary license. Sen. Hill explained the agreement in these terms:

"Under the terms of the bill, the Alabama Power Company binds itself to meet the requirements for flood control, such as would have been met had the Howell Mills Shoals Dam been constructed by the federal government.

"The power company binds itself to provide for the basic provisions for navigation, and it also binds itself to build five dams within ten years from the time the construction on the first dam begins."

"The Alabama Power Company even goes so far as to bind itself to build first the dam which will mean most for flood control, unless for some good reason the Secretary of the Army, which means the Corps of Engineers, should select some other dam."

A little bit of such reasonable meeting of minds might well enable many other regions to get the electric power they need at a fair price, to provide a very considerable amount of new property for taxation by local and federal government, and relieve the federal budget of vast amounts of spending.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Life Of Robert Young

Robert R. Young started life on a shoestring and has run it into one of the largest collections of locomotive whistles on earth. He's a fellow who never knows from where his next railroad punch is coming. He was born with a silver ticket punch in his mouth. As a child he loved to play with trains and the habit persisted. In infancy he wanted a new "road" every Christmas, but in the full vigor of manhood he likes a new one every few weeks.

When he was a boy Robert liked to go down to the railroad depot and see the trains come and go. He saw them come and go by steam, by electricity and by Diesel as the day when they would come and go by proxy.

Mr. Young began his working life with the Point in New Jersey and has had the keys to the powderhouse ever since.

He later tried his hand with General Motors. (That was away back when you had to crank a proxy to get it started.)

He then went into Wall Street. Forty-eight hours in New York traffic congestion convinced him that the railroads were here to stay and from that day to this, life with him has been just one throttle after another.

Railroads have become so much a part of him that he toots rounding curves and is annoyed if he comes to a full stop and no trainmen raps him on the ankles with a hammer to see if he has developed a hotbox between business conferences. He steams up automatically and is one of the few railroad operators in the world who can open a coach window by force of personality.

Texas millionaires were behind him in getting the New York Central, and we understand all the engineers will now wear cowboy hats, that the conductors will do rope tricks while collecting fares and that the railroad terminal gatemen will make with "Deep in the Heart of Texas" while from the information booth will come the strains of "I'm Just a Lone Cowboy."

In a way this ties the oil business in with railroading. Through this link a railroad can get its lubrications wholesale and oil wells can get the right to display parlor car names like "Winnepausaukee," "Owego Hills" and "Yosemite Queen" on the side in gold letters. (We had a curious experience on the New York Central yesterday. We had been fortunate enough to get a lower berth, but a fellow with an upper got us out of it by proxies.)

There is a rumor Mr. Young has a cow-catcher on his bed and sleeps on a roundtable so he can retain the railroad mood day and night. Also a story that from now on all New York Central timetables will include a bingo card and the music of "Don't Fence Me In." The menu in the dining car will be decided by vote. Toot! Toot! There's a cow on the track, boys, and it ain't even balloting! But let's switch to other matters.

French Empire Outposts Crumbling

Natives No Longer Fear France, Join With Reds In Forging World Strife

(Editor's note—The tides of opposition beat fiercely against the empire France built on two sides of the world. Indochina is all but adrift, and North Africa is shaken by the waves of nationalism. William L. Ryan has surveyed the prospects in both areas, as well as in France itself. This is the first of a series of articles this week in which he portrays the tottering empire—and how it weakened.)

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

AP Foreign News Analyst

TUNIS (AP)—Nguyen Ngoc toils in an Indochina rice field. Mohammed Aly herds goats in Morocco.

Political turmoil swirls about these peasants at outposts of the French empire, but it means nothing to them. They are illiterate and care little who rules them. They want to be left in peace to eke out a living the way their forefathers did for ages before them.

They are in the vast majority. In contrast is an educated crust—men like Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia, Mohammed Kiouane of Algeria and Allal el Fassi of Morocco. These are Nationalist leaders dedicated to driving French political domination out of North Africa. It is ironic that France educated them.

Educated by French

Even Ho Chi Minh, Communist leader who seized the Nationalist movement in Indochina, owes much of his education to France.

Once native leaders looked upon the French as "miracle workers." France was strong and promised them a better way of life. The destruction of French grandeur in the wake of two world wars produced cracks in the French empire that are still widening. Indochina is slipping away in the east. A new Indochina-like problem, this one in North Africa, is brewing.

In today's world of swift communications, propaganda, subversion and rising nationalism, the methods of a half century ago, when France was at the height of her power, do not suffice.

"Force no longer frightens us," a North African nationalist told me. "The French mass their troops and play the Marseillaise to impress us with their glory and their power, but we are no longer impressed."

The misfortune of France is this: It displays less and less ability to cope with the complex problem of defending its important position in today's world.

Subject To Outside Forces

The misfortune of the people of the French union who aspire to national independence is this: They are subject to being used by outside forces. No matter how just their aspirations sound to sympathetic ears in the West, their future is bound up with the struggle of western civilization for survival. Political instability in areas important to defense is an expensive luxury from the West's point of view.

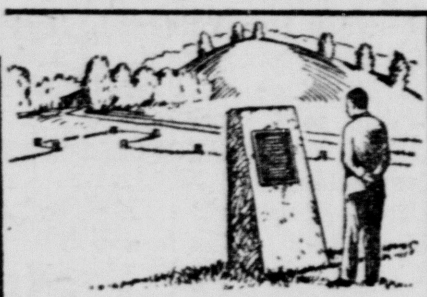

France's splintered politics, the tug and pull of ancient fears and prejudices, the faithful service to Moscow by Communists in Paris—all these have served to delay western defense plans so much that the European defense community may never come to pass with the unity in which it was conceived.

Plays French Politics

Moscow plays with French politics skillfully. In Geneva, Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov made a tough, unbending speech, and the French government fell, to be succeeded by another likely more willing to appease its way out of difficulties.

Many French politicians, ears, attuned to grass roots weariness from eight years of warfare in Southeast Asia, announced themselves willing to write off Indochina. "Let's make the best of it" became the slogan.

How did it all come to pass?

France consolidated her empire at the height of her power and glory. After her defeat by Prussia in 1870, France was determined to show the world she would be a world power. She pinned down her authority in the Far East. She turned to North Africa and made Tunisia a protectorate. She moved into Morocco and by 1912 established her authority.

The show was impressive. France put an end to tribal warfare, built roads, harbors, industries, great white cities. She brought health and hygiene so local populations now are more than doubled. She even brought education, though belatedly and to a relative few. Native leaders looked up to the French as wonder workers, miracle men who could make a wilderness flourish and even make native leaders richer.

War Damaged Prestige

French prestige remained little damaged in the eyes of such people until France lay prostrate at Hitler's feet. The Allies' slogan of "self-determination," an expression of conscience amid a war for survival, found attentive ears in colonial areas. There was little discussion then whether such areas were ready for self rule.

The postwar period brought further splintering of French political factions, rising Communist power in metropolitan France, indecision in Paris, coincident with the growing tide of nationalism.

In the East, the sweep of Red power permitted communism to capture the Nationalist movement. In North Africa, the rise of the Arab League gave the once tiny Nationalist force the idea that hundreds of millions of Arabs backed its aspirations.

Concessions might have satisfied

Nationalist demands—particularly the demands of moderates who admitted they would need French help for a long time to come. But few political concessions were forthcoming, and the number of moderate grew less.

Today France moves from crisis to crisis. The French found that weapons, no matter how modern, and soldiers, no matter how numerous, were not enough. It was impossible to bomb an ideology. In Indochina, the French retreated into their Maginot Line idea, defending what they thought they could and fighting against a steady attrition of harassment. When the enemy decided to come into the open and fight, it was on his terms. France lost a great battle at Dien Bien Phu. The tide was running against her. Political ly she had nothing to vill the vacuum. The only native organization was Communist-controlled. France had permitted no effective political organization to counter it.

Today a large section of French opinion hopes to salvage the rest of the union. Businessmen quietly withdrew from Indochina, first hopefully setting themselves up in North Africa, and then, seeing there, too, the seeds of trouble, shifting to the more solidly held section of the empire in West Africa.

Once again a pattern takes shape. In Tunisia a "liberation army" already is in being. One cannot say for sure how Nationalist it is, just how much foreign influence is in it. But it requires only a small group of disciplined opportunists to change a Nationalist movement into a Communist one. The world learned that in Indochina.

Lloyd Waner of the Pittsburgh Pirates made 223 hits his first season in the big leagues (1927). This is a record for first-year players.

Man Recovering After Being Trapped 8 Days

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP)—Food and water are on Milford Alvin Fitzgerald's mind today after being trapped in a sealed railroad car for eight days.

Dehydrated from the long ordeal, the 28-year-old man was freed last night after a hobo reported hearing a noise.

Fitzgerald, at first unable to talk, was hospitalized in "poor, but improving" condition. After several hours he began to mumble incoherently and finally, he said: "I'm awful hungry."

Nurses at Pinal County General Hospital at Florence fed him chips, ped ice at first, later soft foods.

Southern Pacific Railroad officials said Fitzgerald, of Seattle and Spring Valley, Calif., apparently had climbed into the car loaded with lumber in Washington State a week ago Saturday.

Miller-Edgerton Nuptials Held In Damascus Friends Church

Five sisters of Miss LaVonne Miller were her attendants at her wedding to Harold W. Edgerton Sunday at 3 o'clock in the sanctuary of the Damascus Friends Church.

Following the double ring service, the couple were congratulated by 200 guests at the reception in the church social rooms.

Miss Carolyn McPherson, organist, played the nuptial music heralding the approach of the bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer A. Miller of Damascus.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Martha Edgerton of Winona and Raymond Edgerton of East St. Louis, Ill.

Palms and ferns were used at the altar and tall tapers in candelabra lighted the setting where the couple exchanged vows and rings in the presence of Rev. Robert Mosher, church pastor, and a large company of friends and relatives.

Soloist, Mrs. Kenneth McNeal, sang "Because," "O Promise Me" and "Through the Years," to accompany Miss McPherson.

The petite bride wore a bouffant waist-length gown of white nylon tulle over bridal satin. The bodice of Chantilly lace was enhanced with Mandarin collar and long tapered sleeves. White roses, showered with Stephanotis, made up her bridal bouquet.

With her pink gown, Mrs. Eldon Morckel carried a contrasting bouquet of deep pink carnations. Mrs. Louis McQuiston, in green, carried variegated pink carnations and Miss Sally Miller, in pastel blue, had pale pink carnations.

All three ballerina gowns were fashioned of net over taffeta. The strapless gowns of Mrs. Morckel and Mrs. McQuiston were worn with lace jackets, while Miss Miller's was designed with a cape.

Two other sisters of the bride, Linda and Sandra Miller were flower girls — Linda in pink and Sandra in blue-white. Their gowns made on the same pattern as that of the junior bridesmaids. The small baskets they carried were filled with pink and white rosebuds.

Kenneth Schoeni of Beloit was best man. Louis McQuiston of Columbiana, brother-in-law of the bride, and Robert Miller, her brother, were the ushers.

Both mothers complemented their costumes with corsages of white carnations and white accessories. Mrs. Miller appeared in sheer nylon print and Mrs. Edgerton in nylon.

The guests at the wedding and reception came from Salem, Damascus, Winona, Canton, Louisville, Columbiana, Philadelphia and Winston-Salem, N.C.

Serving were Alice Meissner of Salem, Lavine Odey of North Georgetown, Carol Edgerton, Mrs. Ralph Loutzenhiser, Mrs. Ann Gorman and Mrs. Marion Rummel.

A pink and white color scheme used in the flowers of the bride's attendants was repeated in the motif of carnations around the base of the three-tiered cake.

For their trip through the southern states the bride wore a navy linen suit with white accessories and a white rose corsage. The couple will return to make their home at RD 1, Salem.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Edgerton were graduated from Goshen Union High School. The bride is employed in the circulation department of the Salem News. Her husband is engaged in farming.

Concord Presbyterian Church Scene of Morrow-Lutz Nuptials

Friends and relatives filled the candlelighted sanctuary of the nearly century-old Concord Presbyterian Church Friday evening to witness the wedding of Beatrice E. Morrow and John K. Lutz.

Rev. D. Hamilton Funk officiated in the impressive double ring ceremony which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hively of the Goshen Rd. and the son of Mrs. Frank H. Lutz of Superior Ave. and the late Frank Lutz.

Mr. Hively gave his daughter in marriage at the altar where a bank of palms formed the background for a cross of white carnations and blue delphinium. Baskets of white pompons, gladioli, lilies and snapdragons were arranged with the candelabra.

The soloist, Miss Carol Stille, sang "Love Walked In," "Because" and "Always" prior to the appearance of the bride party, and during the ceremony she sang, "The Lord's Prayer." The organist, Mrs. Sarah Hill of St. Clairville, played accompaniment for Miss Stille and heralded the bride with the familiar nuptial melodies.

Complete with court train, the bride's gown was fashioned of fairy-like Point d'Esprit with a lovely scalloped border of Chantilly-type lace underlaid by layers of nylon tulle. She carried a colonel bouquet of white roses and delphinium and wore a cloche, with fingertip veil, which matched her gown.

Miss Betty Lynch of Salem was maid of honor and Sharon Lynne Morrow, four-year-old daughter of the bride, was flower girl. Both were gowned in sky blue nylon chiffon, designed in ballerina length with shawl-type collar which went in ripple effect to the hemlines. They wore matching cloche hats and carried yellow roses and blue delphinium in colonial bouquets.

Robert L. Lutz served his brother as best man. Ushers were Eugene Hively, brother of the bride, and Frank Hoopes.

The mothers of the couple complemented their costumes with corsages of white orchids. Mrs. Hively appeared in rose crepe and lace

Indians Topple Boston Twice, 3-1, 9-2, Lead League By 4

Smith Homers In Each Game

Feller, Houtteman Notch Victories

CLEVELAND (AP)—Al Smith celebrated his return to the Cleveland lineup yesterday by belting a home run in each part of a double bill as the Indians toppled the Boston Red Sox 3-1 and 9-2.

The young outfielder, sidelined a week with a pulled leg muscle, drove in five runs. He supported five-hit pitching by Bob Feller in the opener and respectable hurling by Art Houtteman in the nightcap. That gave the first place Tribe a four-game lead in the American League.

Smith's first home run tied the score. His fifth homer of the season broke a tie in the second game.

Another returnee, Al Rosen, was in the starting lineup for the first time since June 4. Playing with his fractured finger still taped, he poked two singles, one in each game.

Feller fanned two batters yesterday for a total of 2,504, one less than Christy Mathewson's all-time total.

The 35-year-old veteran, who walked only two while winning his fourth game, declared:

"I didn't get tired at all and felt just as fresh at the end of the game as at the beginning."

His Sunday pitching partner, Houtteman, piled up his fifth victory in a row and seventh of the season against three defeats.

Smith's first-inning homer came after Jim Piersall registered the first Red Sox run. Piersall singled, took third on Grady Hatton's single, and scored when Karl Olson hit into a double play.

George Strickland singled in the second and later scored on Rudy Regalado's sacrifice fly.

In the fifth, Larry Doby got to first safely on a grounder and later scored on a sacrifice fly by Dave Philley.

Doby smashed a three-run homer in the fourth inning of the second game. It was his ninth of the season. Earlier in the inning, a double by Strickland and singles by Houtteman and Smith accounted for two runs.

Smith's second-inning homer scored Naragon and Houtteman who had singled, breaking a 1-1 tie. Smith walked in the first and later scored on Philley's grounder, after the Red Sox gained a run on singles by Hatton and Harry Agganis.

The Indians grabbed 20 hits off six Boston pitchers—three in each game. Leo Kiely, charged with the opening loss, has a 1-5 record, and Willard Nixon lost his sixth, against five wins, in the second.

SUNDAY'S STARS

BATTING — Bobby Hofman and Dusty Rhodes, New York Giants, set new record by hitting pinch home runs in sixth inning of 7-6 victory over St. Louis.

PITCHING — Bob Keegan, Chicago White Sox, became first 10-game winner in the American League with 7-3 decision over New York, saving second place for Chicago.

Kensington Loses 5-3 To Salem Merchants

The power-laden Salem Merchants steam-rolled to their eighth straight win of the season Sunday afternoon at Centennial Park, dropping Kensington 5-3.

Kensington is the only squad to hold a decision over the Merchants in 12 games this year.

Salem Polo Team Loses To Columbus

The Salem Polo Team went down to a 9-3 defeat at the hands of the tough Columbus Harbor Hills team yesterday afternoon at Columbus.

Played before a large crowd, the game featured excellent play throughout the contest by the winners.

Jim Pidgeon was the big gun for Salem, scoring all three goals.

Other local players were Willie Smith, Harry Fricke, Tony Sheen and Roy Bates, who returned to action after being out of the lineup for two weeks with injuries. Salem's other player, Lloyd Brunner, badly cut his hand in a freak accident in the horse van.

Ole Harris had five goals and Bud Myers, three, to pace the winners.

Salem will play host to Youngstown - Poland at 5 p.m. Sunday at the local field.

Washingtonville Wins 2nd Straight Game

The Washingtonville Boosters won their second straight game in the Austin town Colt League last week, tripping Niles Arden Furniture 4-2 at Washingtonville.

Red Bell was the batting star for the winners, batting in three of the four runs with two hits, including a home run with one on, Dave Gwynne drove the other tally home with the winners' only other hit.

Jimmy Campbell, promising a Washingtonville hurler, allowed only one hit in racking up the win. He struck out 11 men, bringing his two-game strike out total to 21.

Colt League baseball, in its second year, is for boys 15 and 16 years old.

FELLER WINS 3RD STRAIGHT

CLEVELAND (AP)—The diet of "once a week" pitching appears to agree with Bob Feller.

The veteran righthander boasts a three-game winning streak today after downing the Red Sox 3-1 yesterday for the 253rd victory of his brilliant major league career.

Ed Furgol Wins National Open By One Stroke Over Littler

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP)—Probably the most untalkative golfer ever to trod a fairway is the new U.S. Open golf champion and he can credit much to a crippled left arm.

Ed Furgol, a lean, 37-year-old professional from Clayton, Mo., put together consistent rounds of 71, 70, 71, and 72 over the long par-70 Baltusrol course for a 284 — good enough to finish one stroke in front of 23-year-old Gene Littler, 1953 amateur champion from Palm Springs, Calif., now playing as a pro.

Baltusrol's narrow fairways and tough rough offered Furgol little trouble. His left arm, 10 inches shorter than his right and stiff from the elbow down, guided the ball true to the target with few exceptions as his right applied the power.

"My left elbow was a little stronger than Hogan's," said Furgol jokingly afterwards. "It kept me out of the rough." Defending champion Ben Hogan, seeking his fifth title, ended five strokes off the pace with a 289.

Furgol injured his left elbow at the age of 12 when he fell off parallel bars at Utica, N.Y. The injury never healed correctly and he was left with a crooked, cocked arm. Acting on doctor's orders, he took up golf to strengthen the arm and became an outstanding amateur before turning to in 1945.

"But I never could afford any lessons," he said. "What I learned about the game came from watching others and constant practice." The stiff left arm, however, proved valuable. He didn't have to learn to hold it that way as he guided the club head into the ball. He did develop something of an unorthodox swing.

His left arm came in good stead, however, on the 18th when he hooked his drive into the trees. For a moment it looked as if the title was going to elude him. But the crooked arm guided a seven iron true as he came out on a fairway of another course, hit the green from the side and took two putts to get down.

Little Wins Race; Concedes To Kerr

Mike Little of Johnstown won the feature event Saturday evening at the Canfield Speedway — but conceded first prize money to Doc Kerr of Akron before 5,206 amazed fans.

Kerr apparently was destined to win the race until, on the final lap, Little spun him into the infield. Little then went on to take first; Jimmy Florian of Cleveland, second, and Kerr recovered to take third.

Following the race, Little, in a sportsman-like gesture, gave Kerr the first prize money for the unavoidable accident.

Several spectacular wrecks highlighted the program.

In the feature event, Mike Klappak, who was looking for his fifth consecutive feature event triumph, was involved in a five-car tie-up with Bob Greer, Jimmy Romine, Nook Walters and Tommy Kane. Romine miraculously escaped injury in the first race of the night when his car crashed through the fence and rolled over.

DEFENDS NCAA TITLE

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Stanford University, with three-fourths of its 1953 team on hand, began defense of its National Collegiate golf championship today on a soggy Brae Burn Country Club course.

The team title will be determined on the basis of 36 holes of qualifying play.

MICELI DROPS DECISION

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A visit to Toledo's Sports Arena proved to be an unhappy one for Joe Miceli, eighth ranking welterweight from New York. Toledo's Pat Lowry won a split decision over Miceli here Saturday night and the Easterner hurt his left hand in the first round. He plans to have it x-rayed today in New York.

Giants Win 2, Pittsburgh Takes Pair From Braves; Yanks, Chisox Split, Orioles Drop 2

By JACK HAND
AP Sports Writer

Warren Giles' embargo on the $100 home run bonus came just in time to save Leo Durocher a lot of money.

Yesterday two Giant pinch hitters, Bobby Hofman and Dusty Rhodes, tied a record by hitting pinch homers in the same inning of New York's 7-6 victory over St. Louis. Wes Westrum also homered in the sixth inning and Al Dark hit one earlier.

If Giles hadn't sounded a warning, Leo probably still would be handing out $100 bills as he did last week to Bill Taylor and Hank Thompson.

The Giant homers yesterday routed Vic Raschi and hung a defeat on Cot Deal. But the New Yorkers' lead was sliced to one hal, game by Brooklyn's double victory.

The Dodgers again fell back on relief pitching as they knocked off Chicago twice, 6-4 and 6-3. Clem Labine bailed out the first game and Bob Milliken and Ben Wade held the fort in the second after Billy Loes left.

For the first time since Sept. 6, 1953, Pittsburgh actually won a double-header, downing Milwaukee 2-1 in 10 innings when Lew Burdette hit Curt Roberts with a pitched ball with the bases loaded. Gair Allie's three-run homer gave the Pirates the second game, 6-3 over Bob Buhl.

The Yankees managed 20 hits, including home runs by Bill Skowron, Gil McDougald, Mickey Mantle and Joe Collins in thumping Chicago 16-6 in the first game. Then Bob Keegan squared matters for the White Sox 7-3, becoming the first American League pitcher to win 10 games this year. The second game was held to eight innings by darkness, Serm Lollar's two-run homer in the seventh was the big blow.

Baltimore's losing streak stretched to eight straight when Washington's Connie Marrero and Dean Stone pitched the Senators to a double victory, 7-1 and 7-2.

A Philadelphia-at-Detroit double-header was rained out.

It was 6-3 in favor of St. Louis when the Giants cut loose in the sixth. After Willie Mays singled with one out, Hofman batted for Billy Gardner and homered. Westrum slammed the ball out to the left field roof, ending Raschi's day. Rhodes, batting for Marv Grissom, the eventual winner, blasted reliever Deal's first pitch into the lower right field stands for the winning run.

Roy Campanella collected a bunt single, double and triple and Carl Furillo hit a three-run homer in Brooklyn's first-game triumph, in which Labine's stylish relief work saved the day for Carl Erskine. Milliken and Wade allowed three hits in the last 6 2-3 innings after Loes departed in the second game.

Pittsburgh's Max Surkont, former Milwaukee Brave, defeated his old mates for the third time when Burdette plunked Roberts with a pitch. Allie, a 221 hitter before the double-header, was the big blow of the six-run rally in the seventh inning that chased Buhl with his fifth defeat of a non-winning season.

THE SALEM, OHIO, NEWS

A Touring Reporter

By HAL BOYLE

PARIS (AP)—Leaves from a touring notebook:
Cooking is a form of poetry in France, and her fine restaurants are almost as famous as her great cathedrals.

But the average tourist coming here isn't a gourmet on a pilgrimage to a culinary paradise. He just wants a good meal that is typical of the country.

Tomany a diet-starved American there is no greater taste thrill here than big chunks of tough-crust French bread spread half an inch deep with yellow Normandy butter.

It takes a man back to the days of childhood, when coming home hungry from play, bread was the golden good.

A French waiter, watching a group of us put down plate after plate of the wonderful bread here, asked:

"Don't you have bread in the United States?"
It was a hard question to answer.

In Germany the best food buy is bratwurst. It is a section of pork sausage about a foot long and so heavy it takes two small boys to lift one.

This Teutonic hot dog is broiled over a charcoal fire and, served with a bun, costs less than two bits.

Owners of American baseball clubs wishing to lure fans back to the ball parks might try replacing their present amaret hot dogs with these St. Bernard lengths of bratwurst. After downing one, a fan would be too sleepily satisfied to complain about the quality of the mustard—or the pitching.

The U. S. Army garrisons on the continent of Europe still live pretty much to themselves, creating small islands of America largely isolated from the life of the country around them.

The same people met the same people everyday, and get as bored with each other sometimes as do the members of some country club sets back home.

"It might have been necessary to do this right after the war," said an officer. "But the war has been over a long time now."

"We are making a mistake by not getting out and mixing more with the people of the country in which we are stationed. They pre- can there is no greater taste thrill here than big chunks of tough-crust French bread spread half an inch deep with yellow Normandy butter."

Along with the group of former war correspondents who visited the beaches of Normandy ten years after the landings was a key invasion figure, Benjamin A. Dickson, who had an unusual story to recall.

Dickson, 57, a retired colonel from Paoli, Pa., was chief intelligence officer of the U. S. Army on D-Day, June 6, 1944.

"During the landings a copy of our battle plan was washed overboard and floated to a section of the beach held by the Germans," he said.

"They recovered it. Here they had a document giving the actual battle line of our invasion forces—an intelligence agent's dream. But the document was so complete and detailed they thought it must be a trick to fool them, and they failed to act on it."

American staff officers had expected 35,000 casualties in the first few days of the invasion.

"Actually we had fewer—about 28,000," said Dickson. "But had the enemy accepted on its face value this battle plan that had accidentally fallen into their hands, they could have quickly moved reinforcements down from Calais, and I'd hate to think about the result."

"But they couldn't believe their own good luck. They were afraid it was a trap."

That's always the problem, in war or peace—what can a man believe?

Steel Business Seen Good For Rest Of Year
CLEVELAND (AP)—The steel business is going to be "pretty good" for the rest of the year, Steel Magazine predicted today.

Commenting that "business can't help but be good with so much construction going on," the metal-working journal added that "you don't have depressions or even sharp recessions when that mainstay of business is at such a high level."

During May the "dollar volume of heavy construction contracts" was "3 per cent over that of the comparable month a year ago and 25 per cent above that of April of this year," the magazine continued.

Although expenditures for industrial plants and military facilities are now smaller than at any time since 1951, there has been "unprecedented activity in construction of office buildings, shopping and service establishments, schools, churches, public utility and water and sewer lines, and roads and highways," Steel added.

Construction and contractors' products accounted for 20.1 per cent of all finished steel shipped during April, the magazine said, compared with 15.9 per cent in April of last year.

During this April, mills shipped 1,017,714 net tons of such products compared with 1,096,832 for the same month a year ago, when total production was considerably more.

Total production increased half a percentage point again last week, for the six consecutive seven-day period. Ingots moved out of mills at 73.5 per cent of the nation's rated capacity of around 123,000,000 tons.

Steel's price composite on finished steel held at $113.50 a net ton. The magazine's composite on scrap dropped 34 cents to $27.83 a gross ton.

Steel Business Seen Good For Rest Of Year
CLEVELAND (AP)—The steel business is going to be "pretty good" for the rest of the year, Steel Magazine predicted today.

Commenting that "business can't help but be good with so much construction going on," the metal-working journal added that "you don't have depressions or even sharp recessions when that mainstay of business is at such a high level."

During May the "dollar volume of heavy construction contracts" was "3 per cent over that of the comparable month a year ago and 25 per cent above that of April of this year," the magazine continued.

Although expenditures for industrial plants and military facilities are now smaller than at any time since 1951, there has been "unprecedented activity in construction of office buildings, shopping and service establishments, schools, churches, public utility and water and sewer lines, and roads and highways," Steel added.

Construction and contractors' products accounted for 20.1 per cent of all finished steel shipped during April, the magazine said, compared with 15.9 per cent in April of last year.

During this April, mills shipped 1,017,714 net tons of such products compared with 1,096,832 for the same month a year ago, when total production was considerably more.

Total production increased half a percentage point again last week, for the six consecutive seven-day period. Ingots moved out of mills at 73.5 per cent of the nation's rated capacity of around 123,000,000 tons.

Steel's price composite on finished steel held at $113.50 a net ton. The magazine's composite on scrap dropped 34 cents to $27.83 a gross ton.

Texture Paints Give 3-D Effect To Walls

New texture paints give a three-dimensional effect to interior walls in homes.

The paint is applied with a brush.

Then, while it is still tacky, it is textured with a roller or brush, a sponge, a crumpled piece of paper or a trowel.

Special stipple rollers and stipple brushes are among the easiest texturing tools to use.

How To Make Your Own Patio Flagstone

Anything homemade from scratch gives its ownerbuilder a deep sense of accomplishment. For two reasons: He did it with his own hands, and he did it at minimum expense.

In the category of "homemade from scratch" are patio and sidewalk flagstones which have been made to materialize out of a few bags of Portland cement, and a couple piles of sand and pebbles. No matter how unhandy you may be, you can do just that in a short time.

One of the simplest ways to make and install them is to pour a concrete mixture into wooden forms of the desired shape or pattern, then, when the concrete has set, remove the forms and lay flagstones on a sand base. Sweep sand between the homemade stones and the patio or sidewalk is complete.

Forms for casting the slabs should be made of 1x3 lumber, which will assure a uniform thickness of 2 5/8 inches for the flagstones. The forms should be made so that they can be quickly taken apart and used over and over again. With this in mind, use might use screws or double head nails in key points of the form.

Before constructing the forms (to speed up slab-making you'd be wise to make more than one form) for patio flagstones, measure the area available for the terrace. If the dimensions are multiples of two or three, you could make an attractive layout this way:

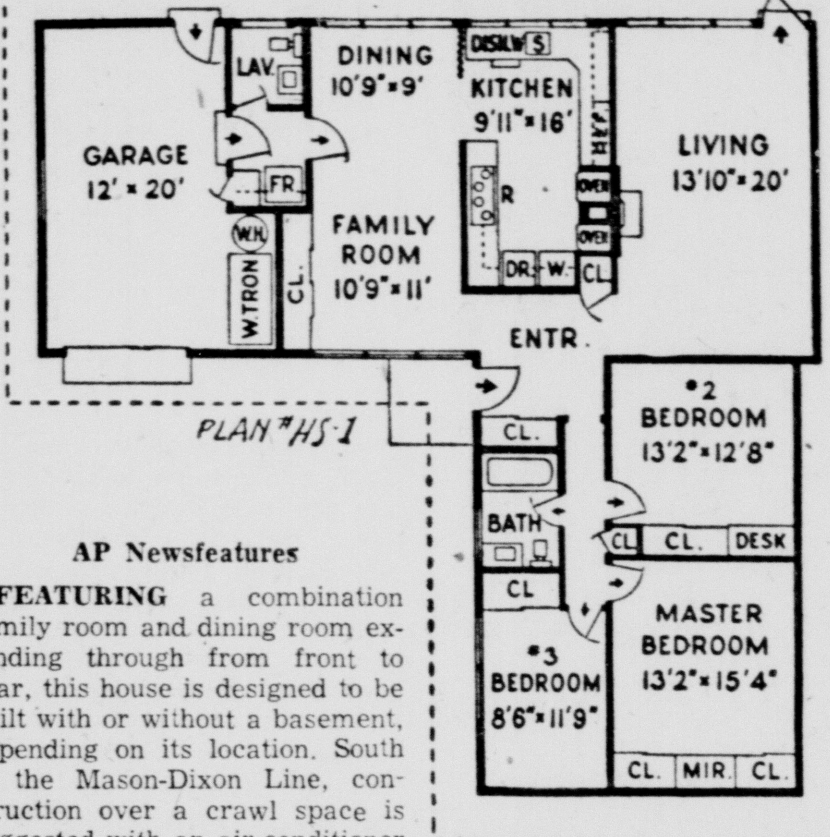

Construct forms two or three feet square and partition them off in such a way that two or more pairs of flagstones can be molded in each form. In partitioning the forms, strive for a definite design or pattern, for the slabs will be laid in the same pattern in which they come from the forms.

For pouring, mix one part cement with 2 1/4 parts sand and 2 1/2 parts gravel. Maximum gravel size is three-quarter inch. Add no more than five gallons of water per sack of Portland cement with average moist sand.

Brush crankcase oil over the forms before pouring concrete, then place them on building paper on a flat surface. Pour concrete and stroke off a smooth finish by running a straight-edge board over the forms. When concrete has set, remove forms, reoil them and cast the next batch of flagstones.

To produce colored flagstones, there are mineral pigments available which can be mixed in the concrete before pouring, or added to the finished surface.

Prepare a base for flagstones by digging out the patio area to a depth of four inches, then cover

FEATURING a combination family room and dining room extending through from front to rear, this house is designed to be built with or without a basement, depending on its location. South of the Mason-Dixon Line, construction over a crawl space is suggested with an air-conditioner and water heater located in the garage. In the north that heater space can be used for a stairway to a basement. The house was designed by Hugh Stubbins, Lexington, Mass., architect. It covers 1,400 square feet without garage. A pre-fabricated execution of the plan is shown in the photo taken at Schenectady, N. Y., where the house was built and furnished in 27 days for an experimental house for the General Electric Co.

with two or three inches of sand. Level and tamp the sand, making it as smooth as possible. A straight-edge board will help you sight for, and correct, unevenness.

Start at a corner to lay out and tamp the flagstones into sand, spacing them a half inch apart. Then spread remainder of sand over the surface of the slabs and sweep it into cracks between them. After a few weeks it may be necessary to add more sand between slabs.

One advantage to the loose-sand-and-flagstone method of flooring a terrace is that, should one of the flagstones crack, it can be easily lifted out and replaced. Yet the floor is nearly as solid as if it were made entirely of concrete.

Quizzing the Gardener

Q — Which kind of cabbage is recommended for the novice home gardener?

A — The soft-headed green type is best for the novice. One of the best is Golden Acre.

Q — Our peonies, planted three years ago, again fail to show flower buds. What causes this?

A — It may be caused by planting the roots too deeply. Setting the crown an inch and a half to two inches deep is the accepted practice. Peonies planted in the shade seldom produce flowers.

Q — How often should daffodil bulbs be dug up and replanted?

A — When planted in an enriched, well-drained soil one need not disturb daffodil clumps for ten years. We know of plantings in gravelly soil that have not been touched for 30 years.

Q — Does heavy cutting of bloom on old lilacs have any effect upon the health of the shrubs?

A — No. Cutting acts as pruning will it encourages new growth.

Q — With limited space for vegetables, what kinds can be planted with some assurance of success?

A — Shoot rows of lettuce, green beans, beets, and carrots; a half dozen staked tomato plants, three peppers, miniature corn in three rows, two feet apart, with hills a foot apart in the rows; and midwest cucumber and Uconn squash, which is a bush type.

Q — Will the addition of rusty nails to the soil about our roses make the reds more brilliant in color?

A — Probably not, since the health of the plant is the governing factor.

Q — When should we stop cutting asparagus, and when should fertilizer be applied?

A — An eight-week cutting season is recommended for asparagus. Fertilize in midsummer with a complete fertilizer, using four lbs. for each 100 square feet of bed.

Q — Cutworms raise Cain with our tomato, pepper and eggplants almost as soon as we set them out. What can we do?

A — Use 5 per cent chlordane mixture, dusted about the bases of the plants when first set out.

Power Tools Offer Fast Building Pace

Without portable power tools the postwar housing shortage could not have been eased as quickly as it has been. Many jobs slowly "done by hand" in the '20s are performed quickly today by electric saws, drills, sanders and other portable tools, saving money for the buyer of the house.

Power saws have reduced the time needed for wood-cutting operations from hours to minutes. Equipped with abrasive discs, tools cut easily through tile, concrete, metals, and composition materials.

Electric floor sanders and edge's not only speed occupancy of new homes, but are also widely used in restoring drab floors in older houses. Oscillating sanders are used to make gypsum wallboard joints invisible. This tool is also used in wood-finishing.

FLOOR EXPANSION JOINTS
Hardwood floors laid in large areas such as gymnasiums and auditoriums should have provision for a 2-inch expansion along all walls. The 2-inch expansion applies to the subfloor as well as the finish floor. This permits free movement of the floor under expansion from moisture absorption.

Patching Often Futile On Leaky Old Roof

Roof leaking? A checkup may reveal signs of wear in your home brought on by age and rough winter weather. It could be expensive to ignore these warning signs.

The underside of roof deck boards should be carefully inspected for dampness. If the roof is old and leaky, patching is not the answer, because other leaks are certain to follow soon and water may damage the interior by seeping down through the walls and ceilings.

A new surface of durable asphalt shingles can usually be laid right over the old roofing for an economical job which retains the insulation value of the worn material.

Ruthless Thinning Hurts The Gardener, But Helps The Crop

Small garden seed, can rarely plant stands free from every other — an inch apart at least. If seeds were sown thinly, there should be no cases of entangled roots at this stage. Then, as the plants grow, alternate ones should be removed until they stand at the space deemed best for their full development.

In this process many plants thinned out can be used for the table. Lettuce, especially, is usable as soon as the leaves are two inches across. Some gardeners never thin lettuce, but let it grow in crowded rows, pulling as needed or even cutting off the leaves, so that more will grow. This never gives lettuce of the best quality, and it causes the plants to bolt seed earlier than normally.

Almost any young vegetable can be transplanted from one place to another in the row, by taking up enough soil so that its roots are not disturbed. In this way most vacant spaces in the row can be filled but you will notice that even this will check the growth of the plant which is moved.

When carrots are sown thinly, thinning may be left until some are large enough to use.

It is the half-grown carrots that are the most delicious, and the growth is so much more in length than in the diameter of the root that the thinning process does not disturb the others so much.

Turnips do not grow well if crowded. If the young plants are pulled up so they stand 4 inches apart in the row, in a remarkably quick time, they will be large enough to use.

Beets are more easily handled than turnips when they are a little larger, and one should not try to try a dish of beet tops with the tiny roots just beginning to form. It is a delicious introduction to the garden menu. The beets which are left in the ground should be spaced 2 inches apart.

Log Burls, Crotches Make Unusual Plywoods

Portions of logs which are seldom used in lumber-making often are prized by the hardwood plywood industry.

In fact, log portions such as burls, crotches and the stump yield highly-deer grain patterns. Any tendency they may have to crack or split because of grain irregularity is eliminated by the plywood process of employing them in thin sheets as face veneers.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

CITY PROPERTY

$4,000
This $4,000 South Broadway home is not elaborate, $4,000 doesn't buy a mansion. Five rooms and bath for $4,000 isn't bad. Where else could you invest $4,000 and get a return of over 10 per cent per month? $4,000 doesn't sound like a lot of money. I'd say it was a pretty good house for $4,000. It wouldn't take long to pay $4,000 off and have a clean equity. This house is listed at $4,000.

a missionary, had been arrested for espionage, but died in prison Feb. 27, 1951. Winter was a mission worker in a leprosarium in Kiangsi Province.

In the military category, the Chinese said three fliers—P. E. Voorhis, H. D. Weese and A. D. Hart Jr.—had died of injuries received when they parachuted from their plane over Antung, north China.

The United States had listed 11 crew members of a U.S. Naval patrol plane and a rescue plane as probable detainees, but the Chinese representative said the two planes crashed into the sea and the men were missing. The names of these 11 were not disclosed.

The Chinese said one of the 32 listed by the United States and being in prison was never detained and is now living in Hunan Province. He is the Rev. John B. Maye of Scranton, Pa., a Roman Catholic missionary.

The Chinese did not say when any of those detained would be released—if at all.

involve aggression, but a revolt of Guatemalans against Guatemalans.

The council took no action on Guatemala's request that it send a peace observation commission at once "to prove the connivance of Honduras and Nicaragua."

The Guatemalan delegate told the council his country had been invaded from Honduras Friday by mercenaries and bombed by P47 planes of North American manufacture, the latter coming from bases on Nicaragua and Honduras.

He claimed to have documentary proof linking the leader of the invasion, Guatemalan exile Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, with Nicaragua and "the government of the North," an obvious reference to the United States.

Governors Of 3 States Meet

Lausche Calls Talks On Taxes, Turnpikes

CINCINNATI — Governors of Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky, flanked by their highway and turnpike commission officials, met here tomorrow for a discussion of mutual problems of turnpikes, Ohio River navigation, interstate bridges, truck taxes and general highway construction.

The three-state conference was arranged by Gov. Frank J. Lausche with the idea officials should get together on the matter of building turnpikes. The agenda was enlarged, however, to include other matters mutually affecting the adjoining states, each of which has the Ohio River as one of its borders.

Lausche will head the Ohio delegation and he has invited Atty.-Gen. C. William O'Neill, highway director Samuel O. Linzell, commerce director W. Harper Annat and all members of the turnpike commission.

Indiana will be represented by Gov. George N. Craig, toll road commissioners John A. Stelle, Dr. Dillon Geiger, Charles Enlow and James Cronin and representatives of the state highway commission.

Kentucky's representatives will be Gov. Lawrence W. Wetherby, highway commissioner William Curdin and other officials of the highway department.
